

Early Career Teachers Appropriate Body Services

From September 2021, induction for teachers joining the profession will be extended to two years and supported by the national roll-out of the Early Career Framework (ECF).

The John Taylor Teaching School Hub and Arthur Terry Teaching School Hub can act as an Appropriate Body for the registration, monitoring of support and assessment of Early Career Teachers (ECTs) in their first and second year of induction. Upon registration your ECTs will be assigned to one of the Teaching School Hubs.

We understand that your Early Career Teachers may need to be registered with different Appropriate Bodies dependent upon their employing school and ITE training provider so by working in partnership the aim of the 2 Teaching School Hubs is to make the process as seamless as possible for schools registering multiple Early Career Teachers.

All registered Early Career Teachers will benefit from:

Standardised Forms and Resources

The registration forms and assessments will be the same for both Appropriate Bodies for familiarity and consistency.

Mentor Training:

Aligned mentor training sessions will run from both venues giving mentors a choice of venues and dates.

ECT Manager:

The online management system will be used by both Appropriate Bodies for ease of use.

ECT Welcome:

Both Appropriate Bodies will offer an introductory session for ECTs to meet the named contact within their Appropriate Body. Sessions will outline the role of the Appropriate Body throughout induction as well as providing an opportunity for a wide network for collaboration with other Early Career Teachers.

“

The support and provision have been rigorous and consistent. Having utilised the offer for the past few years, we have appreciated the high level of quality from the Appropriate Bodies in every interaction. Mentors and those in their induction years alike have praised the clarity of the documentation required and appreciated the personalised approach.
